PULLMAN SERVICE.

Some Incidentals Connected With The Operation of Cars.

Supt. Twining of the Pullman service here since he personally supervised the cleaning of the cars of his company in the Oregon Short Line yards, has come to the conclusion that the water of Salt Lake is decidedly detrimental to paint and variable or much so that paint and varnish, so much so that a new Pullman very soon assumes a general outside air of dimness and shabbi ness. When the cars were cleaned by was simply turned on them. Mr. Twin-ing now has a force of 10 car cleaners constantly at work, and he does no allow any water to touch the varnish using instead a preparation he thinks of getting patented.

In regard to the assertion by the Ogden press to the effect that the Pullman offices will be removed to Junction City at an early date Mr. Twining stated this morning that he had made another contract with a loca laundry to handle the Pullman linen That hardly looks as though we are going to move," he said, "it is all news

ERIE IMPROVEMENTS.

Extensive Changes and a Big New York Terminal.

New York, March 31.-The Eric Railroad company has planned extensive improvements, which will be paid for out of the $50,000,000 loan that was re-cently obtained. New ferryboats are building, and New York terminals and a massive station in Jersey City are imong the other things projected. The plans for the new terminal call for a tation elevated after the manner the Pennsylvanias, as well as the pas-cenger yard north of it. A new track levation will lead from the train shed to a point near the mouth of Bergen funnel. A cut is to be made through the Heights to the west end, one mile, taking in at least a dozen streets run-ning north and south, which will have to be bridged. At the west end a grade will be built for the main line, extending to the Hackensack river, and for the northern railway of New Jersey, extending to Tyler park.

The whole plan is probably the most gigantic in Jersey City's railroad history since the Pennsylvania built up and changed the appearance of the river front.

It is expected that work will be begun within the next two years.

WRECK ON SHORT LINE. A Bad Freight Wreck Occurs at Cedar Fort.

Yesterday's passenger train on the Tintle branch of the Oregon Short Line came into Eureka over the Rio Grande Western owing to a bad freight wreck at Cedar Fort, near Mercur. A heavy couble head train of cars loaded with ore was pulling into the station when the helper engine cut loose and pulled head to take water. The heavy train 16 cars was too much for the reining light engine to hold and it crashed into the helper engine at the water tank with the result that the train engine left the track, the cars were piled up and the rails torn up for some distance.

Mr. Wing refuses to tell who his correspondents are, and the owners of the property profess entire ignorance. But it is currently believed that the Mutual Life of New York is behind the proposed deal, and if this is so the scheme is to erect there, as was outlined in the "News" several weeks ago, an eight or 10 story business strucago, an eight or 10 story business structure in keeping with the great buildings put up by that company in other large cities. But there is apparently no one here who can speak with authority on the subject. Mr. Rulon S. Wells, the local manager of the company, when spoken to in relation to the matter this afternoon said that it was entirely separated from the agency with which he was connected. Accordingly he knew absolutely nothing of it.

CERTIFICATION IS NECESSARY

Attorney Nye Submits Opinion as To Police Department Payroll,

NOW UP TO CAPT. BURBIDGE

Unless He Acts in the Statter Patrolmen Will Have to Wait for Their Salaries.

In reply to the request of City Auditor Reiser for an opinion as to whether or not it is absolutely necessary for the payroll of the police department to be certified by the head of the depart-ment, City Attorney Nye has rendered an opinion to the effect that such cer-tification is necessary. The payroll of that department was returned because it was certified by George A. Sheets. t was certified by George A. Sheets who Mr. Reiser holds is not the legal ly confirmed head of the department. Pending the settlement of that question the city auditor thought it advisable to get an opinion as to whether or not the payrolls could be paid without being certified to so that the patrolmen would not have to wait for their salaries. As the city attorney has decided that they must be certified, the payrolls will not be paid unless Capt, Burbidge certifies

The opinion of the city attorney follows in full: NYE'S OPINION.

Dear Sir.—Replying to your communication of March 27, in which you ask or information as to whether or not it s absolutely necessary for the police lepartment payroll to be certified to by the head of the department before t can be paid by the auditor, and as to whether chapter 18 of the ordinances published in 1894, applies to the police lepartment as well as to departments from which employes may be removed t will by the head of the department, and also as to whether or not absence from the payroll of the name of a legally appointed officer who, according o the records, has not been removed or suspended, would justify the auditor in refusing to pay such person's salary, permit me to say: Chapter 18 of the ordinances published in 1894 makes no discrimination, and seems to contemplate no distinc-tion between the police department and any other department, as for example, the street department. The ordinance is broad enough to cover all departments in respect to which in the past t has been customary to have a pay-oll or statement as the basis for the payment of employes. Evidently the intent of the ordinance was to prevent the unlawful padding of payrolls, and to require, for the information of the council and the auditor, the statement of the head of the department under oath as to the number and character of the employes in his department, together with their time of service since the last payroll was passed.

Some such verification is really neces-

Some such verification is really necessary, even in the police department, where the men are appointed by the head of the department and confirmed by the council, particularly as a source of information to the auditor, for the reason that the existing ordinance provides that the head of the department may suspend any member for a period not to exceed 15 days, and in case of such suspension requires only that he such suspension requires only that he notify the city council. Thus, any such suspension would come within the knowledge of the auditor only by accident, and not in the regular routine. A verified payroll produces notice of such suspension to the auditor, and operates as a source of protection as well as of information to him.

In this connection, permit me to say, that in my opinion, the question which you suggest as to who is the "responsible head of the police department does not properly enter into the question before us, for the reason that the or-dinance says that the certification shall be by the "chief or head" of the department, and if the auditor has any doubt in his own mind as to the correctness of a payrol) certified by the head of any department, it is in my opinion, only incumbent upon him to satisfy himself from sources other than the certified ayroll. The mere certification of a ayroll by the head of a department es not make it incumbent upon the auditor to draw warrants in accordance with the payroll so certified; neither does it limit the auditor in his inquir-ies concerning the payroll. The requirement of the ordinance is simply mandatory upon the head of the department, and upon the council and the auditor in requiring that a payroll must be certified before it can be acted upon. The limitation of the ordinance extends no further.

Replying to your last question, pen mit me to say: That under ordinary circumstances the auditor would not be justified in drawing a warrant for a person as a member of a department when his name did not appear on the payroll. Nevertheless, as before indicated, the auditor's investigation is not limited to the certified payroll, and if he city in any department and is entitled to be paid for his services, he may nevertheless draw a warrant to cover the amount due regardless of whether or not such person's name appears up-on a regularly certified payroll.

If this does not answer your inquir-ies fully, I shall be pleased to advise you further upon receipt of another communication. Very respectfully, (Signed.) GEORGE L. NYE, City Attorney."
